

37500 YENS

ASTERO

FIRST VINYL EDITION • OCTOBER 9, 2026

BRUIT SOURD × EYE OF STORM RECORDS × GARDEN SEAT

Distribution: Kuroneko

ALMOST 20 YEARS LATER, ASTERO FINALLY COMES TO VINYL

In 2007, Reims-based duo 37500 Yens released Astero through Distile Records: eight instrumental tracks suspended between noise rock, math rock, repetition, tension and deconstruction, driven by guitar and drums pushed to their limits.

After touring extensively across France and sharing stages with acts including Zu, Joe Lally and Explosions in the Sky, 37500 Yens established a sound that was physical, exacting and fiercely free.

On October 9, 2026, Astero receives its first vinyl edition, almost twenty years after its original release. The reissue includes three previously unreleased digital bonus tracks from a second album that never saw the light of day.

“A revelation.”

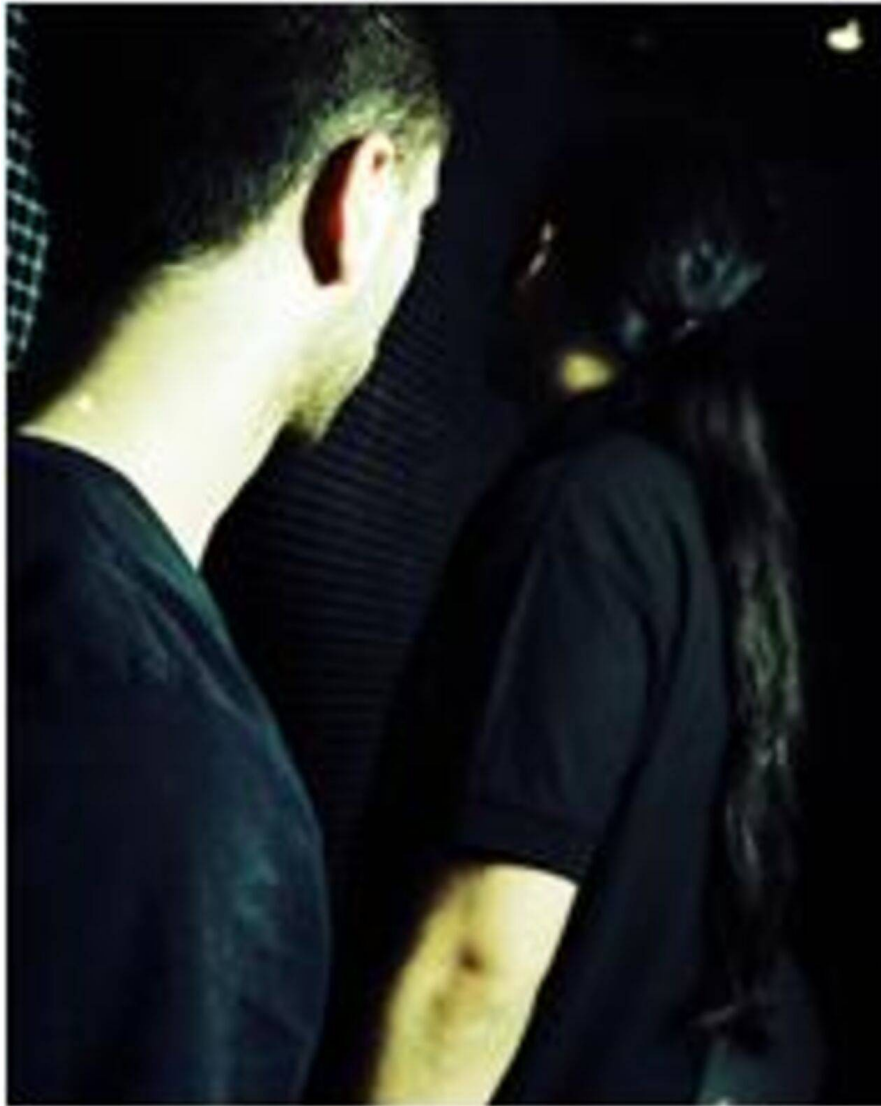

— Perte & Fracas

37500 YENS

Formed in Reims in the mid-2000s as a guitar-and-drums duo, 37500 Yens used noise rock and math rock as starting points before bending them into something of their own.

Breaks, counter-rhythms, repetition, mounting pressure, abrasion and melody collide without ever turning technical skill into empty display. For 37500 Yens, complexity always serves movement, sound and emotion.

The band quickly built a live reputation, sharing bills with Zu, Joe Lally and Explosions in the Sky. Astero, their only album, was released in 2007 and met with an enthusiastic response from the independent press.

“A festival of breaks, fractures, offbeats, cathartic jolts, epic gallops and finely cut, fiercely abrasive riffs.”

— XSilence

THE GHOST SECOND ALBUM

After Astero, the story of 37500 Yens was supposed to continue with a second album.

The songs were there. The band returned to recording, hoping to recapture what had made the first record so singular: microphones scattered throughout the room to catch the amplifiers, the drums, the air and the accidents. This time, however, the magic never happened.

The material itself was never the problem. The duo still believed deeply in the songs, including one recorded with Sascha Andres of Heliogabale. It was the sound of the record that kept slipping away. They tried, started again and searched for something that perhaps could not be reproduced by definition.

Then life moved on. The passing years became tangled with the band's uncompromising standards, their perfectionism and the fear of releasing anything that did not fully match what they had imagined. The second album remained unfinished. 37500 Yens eventually stopped, and the recordings stayed in the vaults.

It would take almost twenty years for the two musicians to meet again and play together.

This reissue now opens the door onto that ghost album. Three of its songs accompany the vinyl as digital bonus tracks: not a reconstruction of a record that never existed, but traces of a story left hanging for almost twenty years.

ALMOST TWENTY YEARS LATER: ANN BONNY

Almost twenty years after 37500 Yens, the two musicians eventually found themselves playing in the same room again. Not to reform the band, and not to recreate Astero.

With Julie of Rhume Carabiné, they formed Ann Bonny. Her arrival shifted the duo into entirely new territory, bringing soul, darkness and an unsettling contrast to their tightly wound mechanics.

The music became suffocating, violent and almost claustrophobic. It compresses the air and leaves little room to breathe. Through that mass, Julie's voice emerges soft, fragile and high-pitched. The contrast never calms the storm; it makes it more disturbing.

On October 9, 2026, the two stories cross: Astero appears on vinyl for the first time, accompanied by three songs from the ghost second album, while Ann Bonny releases its LP on the same day.

THIS IS NOT THE RETURN OF 37500 YENS.
IT IS A NEW STORY.

“Technically flawless, the band impresses at every turn, always with the intention of moving and surprising rather than showing off.”

— Metalorgie

ASTERO — 2007 / 2026

ARTIST	37500 Yens
ALBUM	Astero
ORIGINAL RELEASE	2007 — Distile Records
REISSUE	October 9, 2026
FORMAT	LP + 3 previously unreleased digital bonus tracks
LABELS	Bruit Sourd / Eye Of Storm Records / Garden Seat
DISTRIBUTION	Kuroneko
ORIGIN	Reims, France
GENRE	Noise rock / Math rock / Experimental
CATALOGUE NO.	BS004
BARCODE	3700398743042
VINYL REMASTER	Sylvain Masure

TRACKLIST

- 01 37501
- 02 Astero
- 03 Microphonie
- 04 Chapitres
- 05 Canard boiteux
- 06 Intérieur 1
- 07 Intérieur 2
- 08 The Sullivan's Quartet

+ 3 PREVIOUSLY UNRELEASED DIGITAL BONUS TRACKS

PRESS / PROMO

HD photographs, cover artwork, one-minute audio snippets in MP3 and WAV, press materials and further information are available at media.bruitsourd.com.

37500 YENS — ASTERO
10.09.2026